DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yuhara et al., (US Pat 6,283,129).

With respect to claim 5, Yuhara discloses a container having a container and lid section, a replaceable cover replaceably attached on and covering said lid section, a through hole formed in said lid section so as to extend toward said replaceable cover, and engaging member formed to protrude into said through-hole, a handle formed in said replaceable cover and extending through said through-hole to be exposed in said lid section and a coacting member formed on said handle and releasably engaging g said engaging member (See Yuhara Fig 6 reproduced below; see also Fig 2 and 3 generally).

FIG.6

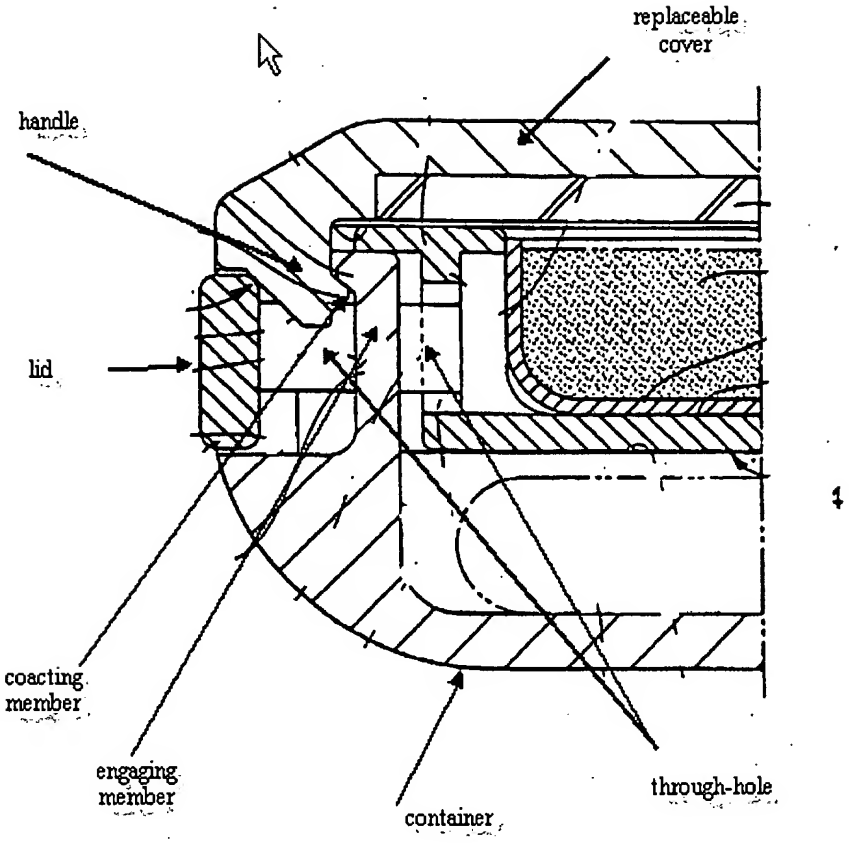

Fig 6, Yuhara (US Pat 6,283,129).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kang (US Pat 5,022,529) in view of Yuhara (US Pat 4,483,355).

With respect to claim 5, Kang discloses a cosmetic container comprising a container section (Kang Fig 2 ref 3), a lid section (2), a replaceable cover (4) replaceably attached on, and covering, said lid section; a through-hole (2a) formed in said lid section so as to extend toward said replaceable cover, an engaging member (2b), a handle (4a) formed in said replaceable cover and extending through said through-hole to be exposed in said lid section, and a coacting member (4b) formed on said handle and releaseably engaging said engaging member. Kang does not disclose a hinging means wherein said engaging member is formed to protrude into said through hole and that said coacting member of said handle releaseably engages the protruding engaging member. However, Yuhara shows that a hinging means wherein an engaging member (Yuhara Fig 1 ref 50) protrudes from a container/lid portion into a through-hole (6) and releaseably engages with a handle (23) having a coacting member (24) was an equivalent structure known in the art. Therefore, because these two hinging means were art recognized equivalents at the time the invention was made, one of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to substitute the hinging means of Kang for the hinging means of Yuhara having an engaging member formed to protrude into the through-hole. An express suggestion to substitute one equivalent component or process for another is not necessary to render such a substitution obvious. In re Fout, 213 USPQ 532.

With respect to claim 6, Kang discloses that the replaceable cover is provided to cover the upper surface of said lid section (Kang Fig 2 generally), a hinge element (at ref 2b) which is formed on said lid section and in which said through-hole is formed, is pivotally joined (Fig 4 at ref 4b) to said container section so as to open and close the cosmetic container, and said handle is exposed in the undersurface of said lid section (Fig 3 at 4a) opposite said upper surface.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 5-6 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2 of copending Application No. 10/758,594. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they claim substantially the same invention.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim 5 is provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3 of copending Application No. 10/687,978. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they claim substantially the same invention.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 5-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See attached PTO-892 citing relevant references.
